Hors d' oeuvres (priced by the piece or per person pp as noted)

Pricing on hors d' oeuvres can vary widely by person based on what items are served, and whether they are served in quantities to serve as a snack or substitute for a meal ("heavy hors d'oeuvres"). As a general rule, serving heavy hors d'oeuvres is more expensive than serving a meal due to the raw cost of the products utilized, and the amount of hand labor needed to prepare them, but is appropriate for many types of events, and is an elegant and popular way to entertain. Minimum quantities apply on most items, and these quantities vary by item. Some items must be cooked on site to provide acceptable quality.
